Firm celebrates yet more success at national travel awards

AN Exeter-based holiday company won gold at the British Travel Awards.

Self-catering specialist Luxury Coastal was named Best Small Company for UK Holiday Home Rentals.

The independent firm - which hosts 35,000 guests a year in the South West - celebrated at a gala dinner in London.

Managing director Phil Beattie said: “We are delighted to continue to excel in what we do and be recognised for that: this is the second time we have won this category, and the third year in a row that we have made the top three at the British Travel Awards.

“It is particularly rewarding as the awards are voted for by members of the public, essentially our guests and owners, which is extremely motivating for our entire team.

“The team behind Luxury Coastal is second to none; we bring more than 50 years’ combined experience in delivering holidays. Top of our agenda is to champion the South West, local people, businesses and services, delivering outstanding breaks at the same time as giving back to the region.”

Luxury Coastal has a portfolio of 389 holiday rentals in apartments, houses and luxury lodges in Devon, Cornwall, Somerset and Dorset.

Company celebrates moving from city to grounds of Winslade Park

WEALTH management company Prydis has moved from Exeter city centre to an office in the grounds of Winslade Park at Clyst St Mary.

The offices at Clyst House, with a footprint of 6,200sq ft, are now home to 60 staff members from the wealth and accounts teams.

To mark the office move, Prydis hosted an official launch event for clients, agents, colleagues and peers. Guests joined the team for drinks, canapes and a full tour of the facilities, including a dedicated break-out area, coffee bar and pool table, where staff can relax with their colleagues.

Managing director James Priday said: “We are immensely proud to have developed a strong reputation in the industry and couldn’t have achieved this without the ongoing support of our amazing team.”

Gary Randall, ACA managing director, Prydis accounts is a director of the Prydis accountancy and audit teams.

He said: “The new facility at Clyst House offers increased space, improved meeting and conferencing capabilities and the added benefit of on-site parking, enabling us to better serve our clients and support our growing team.

“Winslade Park provides a professional environment that aligns with our focus on collaboration, efficiency and delivering high-quality service. We are confident that this move will enhance our ability to meet the evolving needs of our clients.”

Mr Priday added: “Moving to Winslade Park marks an exciting new chapter in the history of Prydis. This milestone reflects our growth and ambition, providing a welcoming space for clients and a collaborative environment for our team.

“We constantly strive to deliver, and Winslade Park’s inspiring surroundings align perfectly with our values, offering the ideal setting to deliver exceptional service and innovative solutions. It’s a place where we can continue to support our client’s success while embracing new opportunities as a business.”
